

Honourable Lord Stepan,

I understand this correspondence, may appear somewhat strange without us having met, and this being our introduction together. But I have a feeling that this greeting will lead to great headway for the lands of Hostra.

Let me perhaps introduce myself before I discuss matters further. I am Lord Imbus Dall, wife of Corena Dall who is cousin to the daughter of the once King of Orian. I serve here in the city of Orian as councillor on the board that governs the city, in absence of a legitimate and strong heir. My job offers me the chance to counsel with all lords from Relian to Dynax on many a matter and concern.

I write to you to extend my invitation to the once-capital of Orian. I realize your time is a valued commodity and holidays for those in our position is ill-awarded, however, may I encourage you. My home is spacious and my household comfortable and welcoming, especially to those who seek peace. I would wish to invite you to meet with influential people and businessmen interested in seeing peace and stability. If anything there would be a meeting of the minds, I would hope.

Before I sign off, you may wish to be aware, your brother Constans has made show in Orian under the support and banner of Lord Bela, who also sits upon the council. He made much an impression, and quite a fuss, if I do say so to some of us.

I look forward to hearing from you,

Faithfully

Lord Imbus Dall