

Fortunes smile on those who seek truth unclouded by personal desires, emotions and motivations of greed and hunger, lest of all hybris. Recent discussions in shadows speak of a resurrection of an order founded at the height of civilization. Let there be no pretence, this entitlement is erroneous and should be reconsidered. Reason alone be the example, and proof considering this - in Ardania, all but one sword of the Ahn Sye Nokora rides among the golden lord's quest. Yet that one sword is more unique than them all, closer in heart to us, and furthest from our beliefs at the same time. Lay not claim to that which may or may not exist. The past is not the idle ground for the clouded to rape and pillage, through blood or not it is always easily spilled.

Fire will devour what you read upon the final word, so take your time to reread what must be firmly impressed. Deter this use of name at all costs, for the costs will not be ours to pay. Be relieved that this is contact. Your competence is proving itself, if only you had the proper tools for your operations. The parcel within is for Savon.

Learn your skills strongly Ishraha, they will determine your stay of life in the closing shadows that summer will cast.